

MEET THE FOUNDER

Tafadzwanashe Gavi, 27 is the founder of Umojalands a multipurpose digital land listing tool designed to connect underutilised land with farm seekers. The founder later introduced UmojaFinance a digital platform tool supports financial inclusion by providing financial institutions with accurate data not limited to farmer identity, livestock identity and Plot Information. Although a banker by profession, Tafadzwa’s passion for Agriculture stems from his interest in Sustainable Development Goals and the largely untapped opportunities offered by agriculture not only in Zimbabwe but across the African Continent. His commitment in ensuring food security and youth employment inspired him to come up with innovative approaches for effective land utilisation and farmer financial inclusion in Zimbabwe. He plans to break new markets in countries like South Africa, Rwanda, Namibia, Botswana and Zambia through contacts established during his YALI scholarship stay in South Africa at Innovation Hub. Tafadzwa’s creative innovation was recently profiled by the Thomson Reuters Foundation as part of its emerging leaders spotlight initiatives.
